Sandra Lee Gallery: David Jang.

Comment by AB: Los Angeles artist David Jang makes rigorous, deceptive and convincing artworks out of nontraditional materials, many of which are found or recycled, including aluminum cans, wood, chicken wire, snack food bags, wax, and paper towels. Pretty much all art made from recycled materials looks like art made from recycled materials. Jang's look like anything but. The components are well disguised and almost certain to fool you. Good art; go see.
